

GLORIAANS
CONSTRUCTION

PROVIDING INNOVATIVE,
EFFICIENT & QUALITY
CONSTRUCTION SERVICES

ABOUT US

Growing up in a family with a strong construction industry background and driven in part to honour their father's legacy, it came as no surprise when siblings Tony and Gloria Gosling traded in their day jobs to establish Gloriaans Construction in 2006. Their exposure to the industry came in the early years through their father who owned JG Gosling Builders in the 1960s.

Tony in particular, attained relative experience upon his visits to construction sites around King William's Town, an exercise that afforded him the opportunity to acquire skills in bricklaying, carpentry, and plumbing amongst others.

In its nine years in business, Gloriaans Construction has carved a niche as the ideal contractor through its ethical, professional, efficient and effective approach to business. As such, the 50% woman-owned enterprise holds a Grade 3GB Construction Industry Development Boards (CIDB) certificate.

Today, the company offers services in building construction and project development, project management, contract maintenance, civil works as well as the supply and delivery of aluminium products.

DIRECTORS

As managing director, Tony holds a national diploma in management complemented by over 20 years' experience in the industry. Prior to his exploration of the construction industry, Tony had spent over 25 years in the motoring trade, working as a parts manager at a local dealership. In the year 2000, Tony started doing odd construction jobs as a point of entry to the trade.

Equity partner Gloria is also vastly experienced with a qualification in administration.

The pair has devoted itself to service excellence in order to realise their aspiration of becoming a preferred contractor.

The company also has a solid corporate social investment programme which includes sponsorship of dynamic projects and bursary schemes in engineering and construction related studies.
